

Can the back of a vehicle overhang the sidewalk when it is parked in a private driveway?

It is against the law for any person to obstruct or encroach on any sidewalk, street alley or other public property. However, reasonable exceptions are allowed for temporary obstructions, which are the result of loading or unloading commercial merchandise or receiving and delivering materials during building construction.

Where is it illegal to park?

It is illegal to park in the following locations:

- ◆ On the roadway side of any vehicle stopped or parked at the edge or curb of a street.
- ◆ On a sidewalk, crosswalk, or within an intersection.
- ◆ No parking zones marked by a yellow curb and where no parking signs are placed.
- ◆ Within 20 feet of a marked or unmarked crosswalks. A crosswalk is considered to be the extension of sidewalk boundary lines across a street or at any location where crosswalks are marked with white lines.
- ◆ In front of a public or private driveway.
- ◆ In front of or within 15 feet of a fire hydrant.
- ◆ Within 50 feet of the nearest rail of a railroad crossing.
- ◆ On any street for the purpose of advertising or selling.
- ◆ Anywhere on the roadway for the intended purpose of maintaining or repairing automobiles.

- ◆ Where a vehicle will obstruct or block a parking space designated for persons with disabilities.
- ◆ In parking spaces designated for persons with disabilities without displaying the proper placard or license plate.
- ◆ In the striped loading zone next to handicapped parking spaces.
- ◆ Straddling the markings or lines designating a parking stall.
- ◆ Within 30 feet of any traffic control sign at the side of the roadway.

What do white, blue, and yellow painted lines mean?

- ◆ White Zones are used to denote both short and long-term parking spaces. These spaces are marked with signs that illustrate the maximum allotted parking time and are available for regular public use.
- ◆ Blue Zones denote accessible parking spaces for those with disabilities. These spaces are required in front of places of public accommodation and are denoted by signs with the international access symbol. Accessible parking spaces are also accompanied by an access aisle, which cannot be blocked. Illegal parking in these spaces may result in a fine of $50.
- ◆ Yellow Zones are used by the City to denote “No Parking” areas or zones. “No parking” areas are typically used when parking would block access or in safety situations such as when parking in a certain place would obstruct a driver’s vision.

When does the City install limited term parking zones and loading zones?

- ◆ The City will consider installing limited term parking zones and loading zones only in business districts where a need is established and impact on adjacent properties is minimal.
